"What it did is" has a tense conflict. Since "did" is past tense, it is jarring to use "is" in present tense. "What it did was" is perfectly fine when indicating what something did during a specific event in the past. "What it does is", on the other hand, doesn't indicate you're describing a specific past event.

What I did was a mistake. What I did is a mistake. My stand here is either present or past these can be used
in such construction.

My understanding here
